VEGETABLE SEEDS

The Fall Garden

With the continued high prices on all articles of food, the man who plants a Fall garden is not only saving actual cash, but makes himself independent of the stores and hucksters, eliminating the trouble of continually laying in supplies for his family table. With a little care, all varieties of vegetables can be grown at this season.

School children desiring to make a little spending money can easily do so by planting a Fall garden and selling their produce to the neighbors.
